

Cooking Outside

MOOSE VS. WILD

Been stuck in the wilderness for 3 days now? Getting hungry? Me too! You have come to the right place! Let's cook outside! How about some grilled cheese and pie cups?

Instructions

1. Find an adult to help you build a fire!
2. Go scavenging though the woods to find:
  - For the grilled cheese
    - Bread (you can use gluten free bread as a substitute)
    - Butter and butter knife
      - Don't you love it when your butter comes with a butter knife, fresh from the wilderness??
    - Cheese
      - If you are sensitive to dairy – nutritional yeast works too!
    - Other fun ingredients like ham or turkey for protein, or spinach, lettuce, or tomatoes for veggies!
  - For the pie on a stick
    - Biscuit or crescent dough (or roast a banana as well with chocolate chips on top, follow the same instructions)
    - Pie filling (and can opener, if needed)
      - If you don't have pie filling, try filling with marshmallows and chocolate!
  - Aluminum foil

- Tongs

3. Wash your hands in the river (aka sink)

4. Make the grilled cheese!

- Find a stick that forks out into a “V” and wrap it in aluminum foil to make a “pan”
- Butter one side of 2 pieces of bread. On the side which is not buttered, add cheese and whatever other goodies you would like!
- With the butter side down, put your grilled cheese on your “pan” and cook until cheese is melty and both sides of the bread are golden brown! Use the tongs to flip – don’t burn your hands!

5. Make the Pie cup!

- Find a thick stick and wrap the end in aluminum foil
- Spread the biscuit or pie dough on the stick to make a cup, the thinner the better! (Remember you can use a banana in the aluminum foil with any type of topping you want)
- Cook over the fire until golden brown. It works best if you keep it away from the hot flames and coals so the middle has time to cook before the outside gets too crispy!
- Use the tongs to carefully pull off the cup and fill with pie filling or other sweet treats!

6. Enjoy your dinner and dessert! Share with your friends, family, and neighborhood moose! (Just kidding moose don’t like pie. Trust me, I asked!)

7. Make sure your fire is totally out when you are done!
Wouldn't want to burn down the wilderness. 😊
